

PROFILE

Daniel Flores is an international trumpet artist currently based in Los Angeles, California. As an avid proponent of new and contemporary music for trumpet, Daniel performs regularly throughout the United States and Europe, presenting recitals and masterclasses featuring the repertoire of major contemporary composers. Daniel regularly attends the Chosen Vale Center for Advanced Musical studies, a major platform for new composers, and assembly of some of the finest trumpeters throughout the world. Daniel received his certificate under the Corso Speciale program at the Istituto Superiore Di Studi Musicali Conservatorio Guido Cantelli, in Italy, where he studied with the world-renowned trumpet soloist, Gabriele Cassone. As a lifelong student, Daniel currently studies with trumpet virtuosi Håkan Hardenberger and Clément Saunier.
